

Did you know that one deer could provide as many as 200 servings of lean, healthy, red meat to be served to those less fortunate in your community? Join us at this informational meeting to see how you can help with food insecurity in your community.

Joe Lasher and Jamie Wolfe of Backyard Bow Pro will lead a discussion on how we can work together as a unified group to serve our community as food providers.

Backyard Bow Pro is supporting local food relief efforts by protecting, engaging, involving and educating the community.
